Risk Warning: Investors should consider certain risk factors peculiar to investing in Emerging Markets, before taking any investment decision. Emerging Markets (EM) carry risks as well as rewards. These require consideration of matters not usually associated with investing in securities of issuers or financial derivative instruments linked to securities of issuers in the Developed Markets. The economic and political conditions differ from those in Developed Markets, and may offer less social, political and economic stability. EM may be more volatile than more mature markets. The value of your investment could go down as well as up. In extreme circumstances, this could result in a total loss of your investment. EM may suffer from liquidity problems; changes in rates of exchange between currencies may cause the value of your investment to decrease or increase; operational risks of investing are higher than in more developed markets. For a full description of these and further risks, you should refer to the latest Prospectus.
